

THERE'S A MONSTER IN MY KITCHEN

There's a monster in my kitchen
And I don't know what to do.
It has wicked glowing eyes
And a snake-like tail too.

And claws so sharp and beastly
They could tear a child in two.
It ripped our chalkboard off the wall
And knocked over our stew.

And it growled at all the bones
From our summer barbecue.
Perhaps this beast is here to feast.
But on what? Or on... who?

There's a monster in my kitchen
And it's filling me with fear!
Oh, monster in the shadows...
Please... tell me why you're here?

There's a monster in my forest
And I don't know what to do.
It turned my home to ash
To instead grow something new...

Feed for chickens, pigs and cows
To sell more meat to you.
As our forest disappeared
Their evil empire grew.

They think they are unstoppable
But we pray this isn't true.
The real cost of what they're doing
If only the whole world knew.

There's a monster in my forest
And it's filling me with fear.
It's putting us all in danger.
To warn you is why I'm here.

Oh, Jag-wah in my kitchen
Now I do know what to do.
We'll eat more plants and veggies
And we'll swap meat for... bean stew
...or barbecue tofu!

I'll assemble every warrior
From here to Timbuktu.

Oh, Jag-wah in our kitchen
Now we do know what to do.
We'll stop these deadly monsters
So our planet can renew.
